

As Adviser to K09VR at The University of Texas at Austin, I am writing to support the Comments of the Community Broadcasters Association, point by point. Many ClassA/LPTV's have developed into strong members of their communities, particularly addressing niche, and underserved audiences. They have thus become, in many cases, showcase representatives of localism.